Discuss with your classmates the reasons why younger members of a family follow the rules and guidelines of the older members.

In a wolf pack, the members all contribute to the well-being of the “family.” The same is true in the human family. Use the box below to name some things the members of your family do for one another. Perhaps you could draw some pictures, too!

How many “pups” are in your “pack?”

___________

What are their names?

____________________________

____________________________

____________________________

Name some other members of your “pack.” Grandparents? Aunts, uncles, and cousins? Who is older than you? Who is younger? Who makes the “rules” in your “pack?” Who follows those rules?

OTHER MEMBERS OF MY “PACK”

____________________________

____________________________

____________________________

____________________________

RULE MAKERS:

____________________________

____________________________

____________________________

RULE FOLLOWERS:

____________________________

____________________________

____________________________

Discuss with your classmates the reasons why younger members of a family follow the rules and guidelines of the older members.